INSTRUCTIONS TO THE AUTHORS

1. The Revista Brasileira de Fruticultura (RBF) publishes technical articles and scientific communications in the area of fruit crops, referring to results of original searches and unpublished papers in Portuguese, Spanish or English, and 1 or 2 reviews per edition, of invited authors.

2. All the authors must sign the work's letters direction mentioning the following: "THE AUTHORS DECLARE THAT THEIR REFERRED WORK HAS NOT BEEN PREVIOUSLY PUBLISHED, OR DIRECTED FOR PUBLICATION IN OTHER JOURNAL AND THEY AGREE WITH THE SUBMISSION AND TRANSFERING THE RIGHTS OF PUBLICATION OF THE REFERRED ARTICLE FOR THE RBF JOURNAL". Works submitted as article will not be judged or published as Scientific Communication and vice-versa.

3. Papers may have a maximum of 6 (six) authors and must be submitted in full with the name of the author (s) without abbreviations and footnotes to our file; size A4 (210 x 297 mm), numbering lines and pages, 2 cm margins, one-and-a-half space, Times New Roman font, in size 13. The text should be written in sequence, separating only the items as Introduction, Material and Methods, Results and Discussion, Conclusion, Acknowledgments and References, Tables and Figures on separate sheets, at the end of the article after References.

4) Articles must be organized in: Title, Full Names of Authors (without abbreviations and separated by commas, and in the case of two authors, separated by &), and in the first page footnote should include the professional qualification of each author, position followed by the Institution belonging to it, E-MAIL OF ALL AUTHORS (essential) and mentions of financial support; Abstract (including Indexing Terms), Title, Abstract (including Index Terms), Introduction, Material and Methods, Results and Discussion, Conclusion, Acknowledgments (optional), References, Tables and Figures (see standards for tables and figures). The work must be submitted to the correction of Portuguese and English, by qualified professionals, before being referred to RBF.

5) Scientific Communications should have a simpler structure with 8 pages, plain text, without highlighting the items (Introduction, Material, Results and Conclusions), except References.

6) The captions of the figures and tables should be self-explanatory and concise. Legends, symbols, equations, tables, etc. should be of a size that allows perfect legibility, even in a 50% reduction in the final print of the journal; the key of conventions adopted should be included in the area of Figure; the placement of title in the Figure should be avoided, if this may be part of the legend; photographs should be of good quality.

7) In Tables, vertical lines should be avoided and horizontal should be used, only for the separation of the header and the end of lines, avoiding the use of double lines.
